DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

"Harry's Liquors" at 3113 Greenmount Avenue is a two story, three bay, painted brick structure which has an altered first story facade of aluminum siding and plate glass construction. The second story windows have been boarded over but the slipsill is still visible. The boxed cornice and frieze are decorated with dentils. The store windows includes a smaller two story building of basically the same design in its plan.

"Moses Zalis" has taken a two story, six bay brick building with a Dutch gabled parapet and transformed the first story main facade into a windowed front. The second story windows, six sash with mullion have a continuous sill and plain trim surround.

The firehouse at the end of the row has been described in another section.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The four building row, though having altered first stories in three of the cases, remain close to their original design. The buildings lend an air of how the corridor would have looked with the two story brick buildings facing Greenmount on the east and west sides. The buildings are part of the original Waverly business district, and are similar in style to many of the buildings along the Greenmount-York Road corridor which includes the Waverly Town Hall and 31st Street shops.
